

y yr y
l u

This non-credit course expands students' knowledge of traditional and contemporary medicine and its application in the field of health care. It provides an opportunity for practical application of knowledge and skills in the field of health care. It also provides an opportunity for students to explore the history and culture of medicine as well as other cultures. It provides an opportunity for students to explore the history and culture of medicine as well as other cultures. It provides an opportunity for students to explore the history and culture of medicine as well as other cultures.

0